

I think, what has been lost of the old way tradition? Why is it not practiced? Why do more not desire or consider living in tipi communities or long and plank houses, and other natural building materials? Enjoying the old, the natural way of life, wood fire, Off the grid, true freedom from the confines of federal governance at work in the cities and states. The forest, the frontier, self-sufficiency - What I like to imagine, was a preconscious American dream, the American self-made [sufficient/sustainable] man capable for providing for his family without the need to rely on the foreign, state or federal, powers.

To say the government doesn't care about them [the native americans] anymore, after taking away their recognition, is true, but, the federal government never did care for the Indians or the Indian way of life besides romanticizing Lewis and Clark; which they don't succeed at very well because very few people in the modern day can recall or even acknowledge the challenges and fears that accompanied both the Natives and the Europeans pioneering to new lands. Although it appears blatantly obvious that the Europeans (or more accurately, their political governments - ref democide statistic from <https://docs.google.com/document/d/1XqjMt3fEQjMT41GzfvZkpfEgUhM8SscG6Kk94cS8KA/edit?usp=sharing> ) devastated an insurmountable number of native Americans; There are examples of men who retained their honor and dignity around the Native Americans, and maintained their word in treaty and truce; one example is the common folk hero, Johnny Appleseed (Contrary to popular belief, he was not a Christian, much more pagan and identified strongly with the indigenous lifestyle inherent in us all, just some much more recent and unaccustomed to the European legacy of slavery and abuse of its own people, from sacrificing saints to burning citizens at stakes, electrocuting and injecting them are just a few of the cruel and unusual punishments still employed today)

The natives had the same rights we all had when the constitution was originally drafted. The forming of a federal government or coalition of states was never intended to assert rights over the people. these right are still not asserted (as will be discussed more in detail), and minorities of all public sectors experience a downfall due to insufficient inner governmental relations [pseudo community].

All cultures; school, work, family, just to name a few - [experience pseudo-community and] are caught up in the capitalist globalization culture of superficial appearance, identity dissociation [lack of space and place, knowledge of their own past or family history, knowledge of the place around them and the flourishing life system that they rely on] -- until they are fully trade certified and increasingly aware of their import and outport, or more preferably - completely self-sufficiency, they are likely a capitalistic globalism business venture profiting off of human rights abuses (ref. Persuasive speech doc - <https://docs.google.com/document/d/1JTjnHIWcEI1-nR9c-ci8vhX9qu5qDkq6Kd00tDxgteU/edit?usp=sharing> ) utilizing all the citizens to engage in modern to futuristic trade skills, utilizing technology for the monotonous mindless work humans need not, unless they prefer of course, unconsciously not realizing the technology they already employed. Nothing can be unnatural. If it is empirically evident and exists in this reality it is natural; phenomenal, to be expected.

So to say some technological advances are not natural is complete ignorance. Without nature, technological advances could not be made, the reorganization of nature is what constitutes technology. Manipulating our hands, fingers, technologies exist everywhere and aid as tools for navigating our place and space. Bioregionalism is a practical science. It can be measured and we can create an end that justifies the horrible ongoing means/horrors of this nightmarish culture of war.

But our ability to be educated of and to assert these historically developed and rights has always been a question: [Prudence as defined in the US Declaration of Independence "all experience hath shewn, that mankind is more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed."]

"Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shewn that mankind is more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security." - The United States Declaration of Independence

The federal government was never supposed to even exist or have the power to take natural citizenship birthright due-process rights away from them;

"federal (adj.) 1640s, as a theological term (in reference to "covenants" between God and man), from French fédéral, an adjective formed from Latin foedus (genitive foederis) "covenant, league, treaty, alliance," from PIE *bhoid-es-, suffixed form of root *bheidh- "to trust, confide, persuade."

The original bill of rights protected against the conglomeration of powers., the first amendment in the bill of rights, is instituted to protect us from being enforced into another religion. This is just a small example in the multitude of high-value moral truths not actively being considered when putting in context to women's rights, slaves and the massacre of indigenous peoples. Irrational Decisions Based on what can be viewed as an originally enlightening document paving the way for a culture of peace; ascertaining all men as equals The Renaissance and

Scientific Revolution, created poets and environmentalists just as well as adventurous conquerors. The "real colonial legacy" is based on the symbol of the statue of liberty and the US as a place of protection for the innocent. Unfortunately, this is at the expense of a federal system is bent on profiting off the innocent. Collective powers always corrupt such as the capitalist globalism dominating today

A re-education, of our own cultural heritage (the Europeans and scientific origins), have paved out philosophical, environmental and sociological considerations more than 2 thousand years ago.

From the beginning of civilization, humans have created covenants between man and god, agreements, and governments were installed to honor that covenant. The word Federal as defined by (1. etymonline.com):

federal (adj.) 1640s, as a theological term (in reference to "covenants" between God and man), from French fédéral, an adjective formed from Latin foedus (genitive foederis) "covenant, league, treaty, alliance," from PIE *bhoid-es-, suffixed form of root *bheidh- "to trust, confide, persuade."

The first nation-state of Mesopotamia in 4,000BC, had an economy based on exploitation, with slaves at the base. (2. <http://culture-of-peace.info/books/history/mesopotamia.html>)

"From the fourth millennium BC in Mesopotamia, each Sumerian city-state was headed by a leader who was called lugal, 'big man', or ensi, 'prince-priest'. He was appointed by the god to rule the city and was supposed to live in his temple. Texts describe royalty as power coming from the gods, a tradition passed on to the Semites as it crops up again in Babylon and Assyria, where the kings' names had similar meanings. They derived their power from their enthronement and coronation. An extensive vocabulary referring to divine light and divine splendor was used to describe their attributes. Since the king was responsible for building temples, organizing offerings to the gods, worship, sacrifices, and feasts, functionaries gradually replace him and various duties were delegated to priests." (2.)

Gradually, Commandments, Declarations, Constitutions came to form and can be discovered throughout the archeological record: 1754 BC - The Code of Hammurabi, 539 BC - The Cyrus Cylinder, 239 - 232 BC - The Edicts of Ashoka, 622 - The Constitution of Medina, 1215 - The Magna Carta, 1240 - 1305 The Zohar, 1776 - The U.S. Declaration of Independence, 1789 - The US Bill of Rights, 1948 - The Universal Declaration of Human Rights, 1959-1989 - Declaration of the Rights of the Child, 1999 - Declaration on a Culture of Peace, 2007 - Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples, 2010 - Universal Declaration on the Rights of Mother Earth, just to name a few historical examples. However diverse, similarities can be found in all the prior documents leading up to the Magna Carta and declaration of independence. Revolving around Ownership, Claims to land and right to rule and enslave.

The Declaration of Independence set the standard for a new group of revolutionaries pioneer and adventurous sons of the Enlightenment ( a period of scientific and artistic re-discovery and revolution) out sprung the sciences of chemistry, physics, biology, microbiology, behaviorism and more. The history of the present [Ruler] is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid world. He [the ruler] has; (((this is just limited to the current president of the US but the most recent and foreign ones as well controlling international affairs)))

1. Refusing his assent to laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good [tax record, and full transparent disclosure]
2. Refusing to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people[environmental and job security]
3. Calling together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public records [secret meetings, reporters not allowed]

In 1789 the US Constitution was drafted with the Original 10 amendments;

“ in order to prevent misconstruction or abuse of its powers, [of the Enumeration of State Powers, AKA, the Federal Government] that further declaratory and restrictive clauses should be added: And as extending the ground of public confidence in the Government, will best ensure the beneficent ends of its institution” , the original 10 amendments, AKA, Bill of rights as follows;

1. Freedom of:

Since we have always had the power to govern ourselves let us do so, based on a real response to the number of human rights declarations and developments (Independence, Human Rights, Rights of the Child, Culture of Peace, Rights of Indigenous peoples and mother earth) which h before and since the ongoing traumas. To create a self-sufficient model, actively enforcing the most important pro-life, win-win, constructive team problem-solving rights that have been laid out [as a "proto(original-or-primitive)-call"] before our species.
